Summary

I am Cameron Trow, an autistic Nintendo enthusiast that is obsessed with computers. I am currently studying at The Studio. I mainly want to apply for jobs related to computers because the industry is heading towards using computer related stuff such as robots and automated stuff. I am on the autism spectrum as ADHD and I also approach life in a different angle.

I also own a pseudo business called Tumble Gamer with a slogan of “where gamers unite” which I randomly came up with when making a website for it and ever since it stuck. Tumble Gamer is a YouTube channel/website.
